ECON 102 A, Introduction to Macro-Economics

3 credits, 3 hours per week

This course provides a basic understanding of the macroeconomy with an emphasis on Canadian problems and policies. The primary focus of this course is to explain the performance of the overall macro economy, as measured by gross domestic product, and other key economic indicators. Keynesian and Monetarist theories are examined and used as a framework to analyze and evaluate the effects of government fiscal and monetary policies on income, employment, and inflation. The role of chartered banks is described when examining how the Bank of Canada implements monetary policy affecting Canada's interest rate. International economic issues of free trade, the balance of payments, and exchange rates are also examined and discussed.

Prerequisites: ECON 101 or permission of the Program Chair.
