In-Class Assignments

Each week, we will be working on an application assignment, either the Case at each Chapters’ end or other current articles and items of interest that are germane to contemporary organizations. These assignments will allow you to apply your course work to Training & Development issues such as best-in-class methods of T & D, identifying Training Needs, and practicing different instructional techniques.

Presentations

Students are responsible to prepare and present a 20 minute (including questions) training program on their topic of choice (with instructor approval).

Presentation will include (in this order):
1. Introduction to topic, who you (the trainer) are, who the training is intended for, why we (the learners) are here - STAKEHOLDERS.
2. Background of topic – why is it important to you? Where did the idea come from? What barriers might learners have? – NEEDS ANALYSIS.
3. Tell us what you are trying to accomplish - what will we “be/look/act” like after the training? - OBJECTIVES.
4. Train us - METHOD.
5. Test our learning – TRANSFER OF LEARNING.
6. Review.
7. How will we remember you? The training? The need? – RETENTION.

Performance Requirements

Student Attendance

Class attendance is useful for two reasons. First, class attendance maximizes a students’ learning experience. Second, attending class is a good way to keep informed of matters relating the administration of the course (e.g., the timing of assignments and exams). Ultimately, you are responsible for your own learning and performance in this course.

It is the responsibility of each student to be prepared for all classes. Students who miss classes are responsible for the material covered in those classes and for ensuring that they are prepared for the next class, including the completion of any assignments and / or notes that may be due.

Academic Misconduct

Students are considered to be responsible adults and should adhere to principles of intellectual integrity. Intellectual dishonesty may take many forms, such as:

- Plagiarism or the submission of another person’s work as one’s own
- The use of unauthorized aids in assignments or examinations (cheating)
- Collusion or the unauthorized collaboration with others in preparing work
- The deliberate misrepresentation of qualifications
- The willful distortion of results or data
- Substitution in an examination by another person
- Handing in the same unchanged work as submitted for another assignment
- Breach of confidentiality.

The consequences for academic misconduct range from a verbal reprimand to expulsion from the College. More specific descriptions and details are found in the Student Rights and Student Code of Conduct section of the Keyano College 2015-2016 credit calendar. It is the responsibility of each student to be aware of the guidelines outlined in the Student Rights and Student Code of Conduct Policies.
