

University Studies and Environmental Technology

Welcome to the University Studies and Environmental Technology Department at Keyano College.

By enrolling in your chosen program, you have made a great choice for your future. At Keyano College, we pride ourselves on excellent professional instruction and personal attention to student needs. Our small class sizes and professionally equipped science and computer labs will make your educational experience at Keyano a rewarding one. We are here to provide you with a rich learning environment that will help you achieve your academic goals.

Our Faculty are committed to your success; please make the most of the opportunity to engage with your instructors. Your instructors are experts in their subject areas; they can help you excel and provide advice on your academic career.

Should you have any questions about course registration, or if you have any questions about your program of studies or the College in general, please not hesitate to contact the Department Chair, or the staff in the Academics Office, to schedule an appointment.

Thank you for making Keyano College your school of choice to begin your university education.

Sincerely,

Marie-Frances Jones, Ph.D
